

A Canadian musician and piano teacher, I have had good fortune studying music at Berklee College of Music, in Boston, The University of Toronto and The Royal Conservatory of Music, in Toronto.

" We all have something to offer each other as aspiring musicians, students and artists and by learning to live and work in harmony, together we can achieve so much more than we ever could alone." David

David
Clydesdale